Planning your wedding

We understand that your wedding day is one of the most exciting days of your life and should you choose our venue, our experienced Wedding consultants will personally assist you with all the many details of planning your wedding reception. They will also be present on the day to guide you through all the proceedings. We will be delighted to offer all the help and advice you require on any aspect of your wedding and whatever it is, we are only a phone call away.

Every wedding is tailored to suit individual requirements and you may be assured that your special day will not only be a day to be remembered, but one you feel is truly yours.

Wedding Etiquette

To assist you with your arrangements we have detailed below the formal requirements of the receiving line, top table and speeches. However, formal wedding etiquette need not be adhered to as you may prefer something less formal or have your own idea of how your special day should take place.

The Reception

Most Wedding receptions begin with an aperitif of Champagne, Pimms, Bucks Fizz or Sherry (as well as an alcohol free option) which is served as your guests arrive.

The receiving line to greet your guests is usually as follows: The Bride's parents followed by the Bridegroom's parents, then the Bride and Bridegroom and lastly the Bridesmaids and Best man.

The Speeches and Toasts

Prior to the speeches the Best Man will be asked to announce the cutting of the cake and the guests are invited to take photographs. The bottom tier of the cake is taken away to be cut and is usually served with the coffee.

Grace – Prior to the commencement of the Wedding Breakfast is optional All other toasts and speeches normally take place at the end of the meal when the cake and toasting wine have been distributed.

Brides Father – “Toast to the Bride and Groom “ talks briefly of his daughter and expresses his pleasure in his new son-in-law.

The Groom – “ Toast to the Bridesmaids “ thanks the Bride's parents for the reception and their daughter and also his parents.

The Best Man – “Replies on behalf of the Bridesmaids” makes a light hearted speech. Talks about the Bride and Groom and wishes them future happiness together then reads cards from relatives and friends who were unable to attend.
